

Energize Your Day! Eat School Breakfast

Mornings can be really crazy...the alarm doesn't go off...the kids don't want to get up...there's no time to eat breakfast before the bus comes...or they're just not ready to eat. Or maybe your teenager grabs a can of soda and a candy bar on the way to school. If this sounds like your house, we have good news for you.

Breakfast is served at school! School breakfast will energize your child's day and provide them with a healthy start. A nutritious breakfast helps students be more alert so they can learn more in class, and has plenty of vitamins and nutrients for a strong and healthy body.

Breakfast at school is affordable, too. The cost is only $1.60. If you qualify for free and reduced price meals, you also qualify for the breakfast program, with no additional paperwork. You can't find a healthy breakfast at such a low cost anywhere else.

So help your child start the day right with school breakfast!

News from Ms. Harbaugh

April is always an exciting time of the year for the music department. It's a time for competition, performance, and reflection. As each ensemble works to prepare for their end of the year concert,

I find myself reflecting on how much each ensemble has grown both in their music making and in their relationships with each other. The band is very much like a family. We work very hard to highlight each other's strengths, improve in our areas of challenge, and encourage each other to be our very best both individually and as a group. April is also when our band starts growing! We are recruiting the 4th grades for next year's 5th grade band and we are very excited to welcome them into the band family!

As I reflect on each individual's growth as a musician, student, and citizen I find myself becoming increasingly grateful that I have been allowed to be a part in each student's story. I am so thankful for each of my students and their dedication to becoming their best, their parents and families who make so much of what we accomplish in band possible, the Friends of the Arts, administration and staff at Ed-Co, and the entire Ed - Co community. Each of you play a vital role in the band program. Thank you for letting me be a part of your community. Thank you for everything that you do to support our students. Please review the list of events below and, as always, don't hesitate to contact me with questions or concerns.

A special shout out to all of our Viking Value winners this semester!

We have been working to make these values more visible and predominant in our school - the goals that each of us works towards to make our school great: Take Responsibility for your Actions, Respect people and their property, Be an active learner, Make positive choices, Be proud to be an Ed-Co Viking! When students display these important traits and behaviors we try and recognize them by sending home a postcard to show that we appreciate their efforts and to share their hard work with parents/guardians!

To further recognize the importance of being a good person, a good student and a valued Viking, those who are making the effort are rewarded as follows: At the end of each month the class who received the most postcards got to participate in a fun activity of their choosing during the school day, such as free time in the gym, playing games, etc.

Also 2 students who received postcards were randomly chosen to receive a prize of appreciation including a bag of items from Ed-Co as well as different colleges, businesses, and others supporters of our school!

Congratulations again to all our winners. We hope to continue this again next year in hopes that we see even more students displaying the Viking Values!

Tips for a great summer!

It's important for students to never stop challenging themselves, but it's equally as important to maintain harmony in their lives, including getting time for social interaction and fun! Without developing outlets, teens will harbor stress!

- 1.) Find ways to volunteer. Almost nothing helps a person feel as good and as inspired as community service.
- 2.) Job shadow or intern. Start your career search early, plan for your future.
- 3.) Develop a talent or learn something new as a way to challenge yourself and relieve stress.
- 4.) Set goals. Stay proactive and motivated.
- 5.) Have fun! Do what makes you happy!

One of the most important things to do for your children over the summer is to keep them reading. Research shows that most children experience a "summer slide" over the summer. Reading is like any other skill, you need to practice it to improve. Here is a great article giving parents tips to prevent that "summer slide" in reading.

Three Ways to Prevent Summer Slide.

Many children, especially struggling readers, forget some of what they've learned or slip out of practice during the summer months. Try these strategies to help your reader improve her reading during the summer and beyond:

Six books to summer success: Research shows that reading just six books during the summer may keep a struggling reader from regressing. When choosing the six, be sure that they are just right — not too hard and not too easy. Take advantage of your local library. Ask for help selecting books that match your child's age, interests, and abilities. Libraries often run summer reading programs that motivate kids to read, so find out what's available in your area. Also check our book lists for recommendations.

Read something every day: Encourage your child to take advantage of every opportunity to read. Find them throughout the day:

Morning: The newspaper — even if it is just the comics or today's weather.

Daytime: Schedules, TV guides, magazines, online resources, etc. For example, if your daughter likes the food channel, help her look for a recipe on the network's Web site — then cook it together for more reading practice.

Evening: End the day by having your child read to you from the book he is currently reading (one of the six books, above). Have him rehearse a paragraph, page, or chapter before reading to you. Rereading will help him be more fluent — able to read at an appropriate speed, correctly, and with nice expression.

Keep reading aloud: Reading aloud benefits all children and teens, especially those who struggle. One benefit is that you can read books your child can't, so she will build listening comprehension skills with grade-level and above books. This will increase her knowledge and expand her experience with text, so that she will do better when she reads on her own.

It's hard to keep up a reading routine in a season packed with distractions and diversions. These suggestions will fit into a busy schedule and make reading fun!

The 4th grade is busy the rest of the school year.

The students traveled to the high school on April 4th, to watch the dress rehearsal of the spring play "High Schooler's Guide to the Galaxy." The students had a great time and enjoyed the performance.

The students were excited to show off their own talent at the Elementary Spring concert on April 10th. They appreciated their parent support! They did a super job!

Another highlight for the 4th grade was the band instrument testing. Students are very excited to get their chosen instruments and begin lessons!

Dale Bockenstedt, from Farmer Savings Bank, came to visit our students on April 20. He taught students the importance of saving. This presentation is in conjunction with National Teach Children to Save Day on April 29.

To help celebrate Arbor Day, the Clayton County Conservation Board made arrangements with the Osborne Center to help the 4th grade plant a 6-8 foot shade tree at school. The students learned the importance of trees and how to properly care for them. Mr. Sindelar of Fort Atkinson Nursery donated the shade tree. Students also received a white pine seedling to take home to plant.

The 4th grade will visit the Clayton County Fairgrounds on May 15 to participate in Safety Day. Some of the safety topics include fire safety, animal safety, farm safety, electrical safety, ATV safety, food safety, gun safety, and computer safety.

Once a month, the students have been participating in math centers. Parent volunteers come in to work with our students on math skills. We would like to thank those volunteers for taking time out of their busy schedule to come in and help students refine their math skills.

News from Ms. Frazier

It's hard to believe that it still feels like winter outside!!! We have been wanting to get outside and do some fun activities for our ABC Countdown, but it is hard with this weather!!!! Our ABC

Countdown is a countdown for the days of school we have left, and will be doing different activities according to the letter we are on!!! Hopefully soon, it will feel like spring, so we can get outside!!!!

We are doing a lot of fun things in preschool right now!!! This week, we are celebrating, "The Week of the Young Child." It's a special week that is celebrated all over the United States for young children!!! We had Music Monday, Tasty Tuesday, Work Together Wednesday (no school), and Artsy Thursday!!!

Anytime you would love to come and see what we do in preschool, our door is always open!!!!

News from Mr. Weber

For Earth Day, the 6th grade watched the original Dr. Seuss movie The Lorax. Then the students wrote a short reflection over the movie. They were asked what the Once-ler meant when he said, "Unless someone like you cares a whole awful lot, nothing is going to get better. It's not." We discussed what we can do as a school and community to better our own environment.

The 6th grade is in the process of completing the D.A.R.E. program. D.A.R.E. envisions a world in which students everywhere are empowered to respect others and choose to lead lives free from violence, substance abuse, and other dangerous behaviors. They must go through 10 sessions of trainings where they learn problem-solving and coping skills.

In math, the 6th graders have been working really hard. The students just finished their chapter on relationships between variables in algebra. Next, they will start working on using formulas to find the area of different shapes and figures.

Iowa's high school graduation rate is 91%

Iowa's high school graduation rate continues to show long-term progress, although the state experienced a slight decrease in 2017, according to figures released today by the Iowa Department of Education.

State data show 91 percent of students in Iowa's Class of 2017 graduated within four years, down from 91.3 percent for the Class of 2016. Since 2011, Iowa's four-year graduation rate has climbed 2.7 percentage points overall, with significant long-term gains in nearly every student demographic subgroup (see chart below). For example, graduation rates for African American students have increased four years in a row and by 9.1 percentage points since 2011. Iowa has set a 95 percent goal for the statewide graduation rate.

“High school graduation is an essential step for every student because it opens the door to postsecondary education and training opportunities that lead to rewarding jobs,” Iowa Department of Education Director Ryan Wise said. “While I’m disappointed in this one-year decrease, our long-term trend is still on the rise and I’m confident we have the right roadmap in place for education.”

Iowa graduation rates are calculated with a formula established by the U.S. Department of Education. Unique student identification numbers allow school districts to account for all ninth-grade students as they move through high school. At the state level, the method helps determine when a student graduates, even if the student has switched districts in Iowa during high school.

Iowa’s five-year graduation rate – which reflects students who were part of a graduating class but took an extra year to finish high school – was 93.4 percent for the Class of 2016, up from 93.3 percent for the Class of 2015.

Iowa’s annual dropout rate reflects the percentage of students in grades 9-12 who drop out of school during a single year. The annual dropout rate remained at 2.8 percent from the 2015-16 school year to the 2016-17 school year. The state’s 2016-17 dropout rate represents 4,183 students in grades 9 through 12.

The following graphic shows a comparison of Iowa’s annual dropout rates dating back to the 2010-11 school year:

The elementary had a Leader in Me Assembly Friday, April 6, focusing on the Habit of Think Win-Win. The 4th graders did a great job of performing a skit, showing students when Think Win-Win could be used at recess and some of our 6th graders led us in the habit song. Pictured are the students who were nominated for showing Think Win-Win. Way to go!

From Superintendent Rob Busch

The winter of 2017-18 took a while to get started (I think the first snow was during winter break) but didn't want to seem to let go. The snow and ice school cancellations have pushed the final day with students to Tuesday, June 5th. Let's hope there are no fog days, floods, or raccoons in electric transformers that extend it more.

Join me as we all celebrate the hard work and important contributions of our teachers and staff make during National Teacher & Staff Appreciation Week May 7-11, 2018. This is a week to reach out and thank those who work so hard to provide educational services to the Edgewood-Colesburg community. Our teachers and staff deliver inspiration, knowledge and motivation to our students on a daily basis. During this week take the time to send a note or offer a work of recognition to a special teacher or staff member. Thank them for all they do to help our students achieve great things each and every day.

Summer 2018 should be an exciting one for building and grounds improvements for the Ed-Co School District. The Board has approved a bid to replace numerous windows and doors in the elementary and secondary buildings beginning as soon as school is dismissed for the summer. Quotes are also being reviewed for improvements for bathroom remodels and parking lot expansions. I would love to come and talk to any group about things happening in our district.

I would like to thank all the volunteers we have had in the past calendar year. It takes a lot of people donating time to make our school and students successful. From helping at preschool and kindergarten centers, providing activities at post prom, or working in the concession stands at numerous activities, I want you to know your assistance is greatly appreciated. With numerous track meets coming up, volunteers will continue to play an important role.

The 2018 Iowa Legislation is finishing up with the main sticking points being funding issues. The district has benefited from equity legislation passed this session. The student equity added five dollars per pupil. Transportation equity will add $130,000 to the budget next year. Increases in state supplemental state aid have lagged behind with 1% increase. Iowa's state cost per pupil has experienced record low increases. In eight of the last nine years, the rate of growth in the state cost per pupil has been lower than the cost increases typically experienced by school districts. Extension of the SAVE (state penny) and operational sharing funding are two very important funding streams yet to be extended.

If you would like to learn more about issues facing rural schools and the Edgewood-Colesburg School District, more information is available through the Rural School Advocates of Iowa (<http://www.rsaia.org/>) and the Iowa Association of School Boards (www.ia-sb.org or <http://promiseiowa.org/take-action/>), and the National School Board - <http://www.standup4publicschools.org/>

As always, I ask that you please become involved with the educational opportunities for our young people and assist us in making Edgewood-Colesburg the best school in the State of Iowa. I thank you for taking the time to read these articles as we proceed through a very exciting 2017-2018 school year. If you have ideas for improvement or areas of concern, please contact me by phone at 856-2415 or e-mail at rbusch@edge-cole.k12.ia.us.
