Pat (Vorwald) Chittick

Written by Addy Kirby

Pat Vorwald, now Pat Chittick graduated in the class of 1967. Pat spent her days in the classroom influencing those that sat in the desks amongst her in the classroom. Following graduation she attended the University of Iowa attaining her Associate's degree in Education. After that she got her Masters of Education from Liffeld college. Pat is currently retired, residing in Portland, Oregon after forty years of teaching. Pat's love for working with children led her to being an educator. When asked what advice she would give to current high schoolers she stated, "Give yourself time to find your path." Nearly two thousand miles away from her old stomping grounds, Pat Chittick, is making her mark by doing things the Viking way!
