Once Shannon Moser, now Shannon Robertson is a graduate of the class of 1999. When asked what she did after high school she replied, “I received my bachelor’s degree in elementary education from Mount Mercy College right out of high school. From there, I took a job as a middle school special education teacher in Des Moines at Harding Middle School. I went back to school during my first two years of teaching to obtain my master’s in special education from Drake University. I then went back to Drake five years later to get my master’s in educational leadership. I worked at Harding for eleven years and then took a job as a dean of students at Park Avenue Elementary in Des Moines. I was at Park Avenue for three years before I took my job as elementary principal at Springville Elementary. I actually student taught at Springville in a fourth grade classroom, so I have come back to where it all started, so to speak.” Today Shannon lives in Springville and is the Elementary Principal. Shannon said, “Ed-Co was a great school and community to grow up in. I was able to get a good education as well as establish some wonderful friendships and relationships. Moving back to the area has allowed me to see former teachers, coaches, classmates, and families through events in the conference that our own kids are now participating in.” Her advice to current students is to “Savor the time you are in school. It goes by so quickly, so appreciate and participate in all the activities and opportunities presented to you.” Shannon carries her Viking Pride at Springville Elementary. She is a Viking for Life!
